CITY ACCLAIMING THE HERO OF THE HIGH SEAS

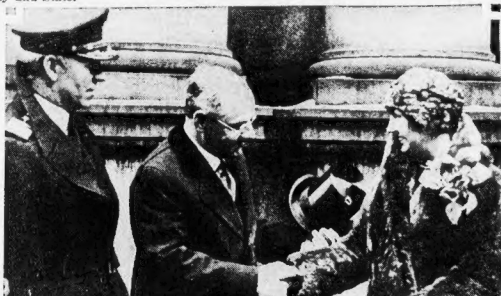

This was the official debut of the day for Capt. George Fried, hero of the rescue of the Italian steamship Florida. The doughty captain is stepping from the automobile at the State House, preceded by his wife and Director of Public Celebrations Johnson, who was his official escort during the round of honors that were extended the captain by the city and State.

BOSTON AMERICAN
WEDNESDAY, FEB. 6, 1925.

Capt. Fried was the first hero that Governor Frank Allen has had the opportunity to congratulate as chief executive of the State. After extolling the skipper for his skill and bravery, the governor presented him with a silver bowl.

Mrs. Fried shared the honors as well as her hero husband. At City Hall, Mayor Nichols in greeting her spoke eloquently of the high courage of her husband. School st. was blocked by the crowd that gathered to witness the official homage paid by the city to the twice-hero of the high seas. From City Hall the captain and his party were whisked to the Chamber of Commerce for dinner and thence to Boston Common for presentation of a watch and silver service.

A glimpse of the crowd that gathered before the State House to acclaim Captain Fried. All along the route of his parade similar gatherings congregated.

Capt. Fried is a man whose mien rarely betrays his emotions. Characteristically, his face is in a repose. It remained for the greetings extended him as he bowed through Boston in the city automobile to break out the faint smile that reminded onlookers of Lindbergh's reaction to ovations of the crowds. Mrs. Fried is more demonstrative than her husband.

The production of Bizet's "Carmen," which was presented by the Chicago Opera Company at the Boston Opera House last night, was in many respects similar to the one this organization has offered here in the past. But its place in the title role of Maria Drazewska, brilliant newcomer from Vienna, constituted a considerable event in itself.

the music of "Carmen" can with-stand the shabbiest performance. Let the notes but be played and sung, and the listener is thrilled. Dramatically, however, "Carmen" stands or falls on the interpreter of the name-part. Bizet's librett-

Simply routine stage business: it was a matter of time before the inevitable opportunity. She was a Carmen who could do dance 'n' grace—she was a Carmen who could sing 'n' rough it up to defy Don Jose to kill 'er at the moment and at the next complete her. She was a Carmen who was never down in the arena. To simply be the catalogue of virtues, she was a Carmen who was a Carmen.

The audience was only mildly impressed by this conception, preferring the more theatrical Carmen. It gave her a little more of a Carmen.

GRANNIS-WELD ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—BETTY ALDEN

Prominent Chestnut Hill Young Folk to Wed

INTO THE FLURRY OF PRESENT TEAS, the "Misses" parties and the engagement announcement of more than ordinary interest in the case of orange blossom and young romances. Mr. and Mrs. A. Winsor Weld, of Chestnut Hill, are today announcing the betrothal of their second daughter, Miss Dorothy Weld, to Arthur E. Grannis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis, also of Chestnut Hill, and all the world of the youthful set hereabouts is intensely interested. A place in the fashionable set, inherited through family prestige and social eminence, belongs to both young people, but what is vastly more interesting are their personal attainments.

ALL THE QUALITY OF THE TOWN THAT is proficient on the spinning blades knows that Miss Weld skates with a slight and finish like unto that of her many-time champion sister, Mrs. Charles B. Blanchard. And those of the quality to whom the intricacies of double whirls and triple spirals are as unknown as the intricacies of the sea and her mastery of the difficult art. Making a bow her debutantes of several seasons ago, Miss Weld did all the properly frivolous things that put the thrills into an ecstatic first winter, but there after devoted her time and energy to her art.

EVEN SO SHORT AN INTERLUDE BETWEEN a February betrothal day and a May wedding day will not be entirely devoted to trousseau gathering and bridal plan making by Miss Weld. She is one of the experts going over to New York later in February to seek United States championship laurels against the cream of the country, and perhaps the junior championship for pair skating may be won by her and her partner, Richard Haggen. Weld prestige on the ice does not rest alone with Miss Weld. Mrs. Blanchard goes also to Manhattan to skate with her partner, Nathaniel Stiles, and add another golden leaf to her laurel wreath.

SCHOLASTIC PROGRESSION FOR MR. GRANNIS, bridegroom-elect, was along the accepted ways of Bostonian youth on education bent via preparatory studies at St. Mark's in Southboro and the sheepskin route through Harvard. Mr. Grannis graduated from the university in 1924. His maternal grandfather was the late Mrs. Oscar Lustig of Boston and the Berkshires. His sisters are Mrs. Robert G. Phoenix (Margaret Grannis), Mrs. Robert S. Colt (Amy Grannis), and Miss Eleanor Grannis.

AND IN ALL PROBABILITY WHEN WEDDING bells ring out, sometime in late May, they will resound from that beautiful, small stone church in Chestnut Hill, the Church of the Redeemer, where the Winsor Welds worship and several Weld brides have given their nuptial vows. And further plans for the young people, now just in the making, include setting up the new establishment in Cambridge, the pleasant city that is recently become high favorite with newweds.

THE MALO, THAT STEAMED INTO HONOLULU HARBOR recently had aboard a small army of the sun-seeking travelers, with Boston of course represented on the passenger list and New Englanders aboard in satisfying numbers. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coulter, erstwhile box holders for the Grand Opera season while the annual operation last goes on in Honolulu, and the Coulter family, while the time amid Hawaii's tropical attractions. They were passengers aboard the Malolo. Mrs. Robert Mori and her daughter, Miss Harriet Mori, also are basking in the sunshine that makes the island famous.

Miss Rosamond Gardiner has a party given for her Friday evening. She shares honors with Miss Ruth Lyman.

BIZET'S "CARMEN" WOVE ITS brilliant mesh into the pattern of the opera last evening to the applause of a crowded house. The opera was the second in a series of operas given by the company. The opera was the second in a series of operas given by the company.

MR. MORGAN BUTLER, IN the Endicott has, radiating the properly glamorous grand opera note—with her wrap of ermine and her pearl white satin gown. Mrs. B. H. Bradley, always beautifully coiffed and gowned, was a picturesque adaptation of the old Media raft, as adjunct to her aquamarine satin. Mrs. Maurice Osborne, wrapped herself in a Chinese priest's robe, a handsome wrap, all rich with rose and blue embroidery, over a straight-line frock of white. Mrs. Donald McRay, from the red gown was decorative in the box the Froissart and the Quincy Adams Shaw share.

PIQUANCY IS THE WORD that comes to mind when Mrs. A. Leide Corcoran is mentioned in the opera parade. She was in the large and enthusiastic audience that followed "Carmen" enraptured. Her gown was a Frenchy also arrangement of black tulle and trailing out, and her wrap a small cape of ermine, was frankly adjusted to adornment rather than utility. Mrs. E. Sohler, with her white and gold opera wrap had a deep collar of white fox, and her gown was also of the tulle color so distinctly becoming to a French emery, distinguished in a French manner that was peaceful blue satin with sweeping train.

REGINALD BIRD'S BOX HAD for guests Miss Betty Bird, in old blue velvet, a sufficed frock with fitted bodice and Mrs. Manning Emery, distinguished in a French manner that was peaceful blue satin with sweeping train. Mrs. E. Sohler, with her white and gold opera wrap had a deep collar of white fox, and her gown was also of the tulle color so distinctly becoming to a French emery, distinguished in a French manner that was peaceful blue satin with sweeping train.

the box contingent included Samuel Hopper-Hopkins, Mrs. John Gardner, Coolidge, George C. Grover, Jr., Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins and her mother, Mrs. John L. Thorne, Mrs. Henry Dubois Thorne and the Hugh Hancrofts.

OF THE YOUNG SET THAT IS out and the fringe set not out there was a good representation. In the latter, the not yet out, was pretty golden-haired Miss Lenora Kimball, in a bright red frock, with her mother, Mrs. Frederick Kimball, in black. Of the former, Miss Nancy Morison wore a trailing bright red ermine with glimmering collar of ermine. Miss Helen Mason was in blue velvet; Miss Katherine Howe was in zimmer lace of black; Miss Alice Sherburne was in blue velvet and Miss Nancy Adams in an interesting frock of swinging beaded trim, the brightest, cheeriest red for a midwinter evening.

DANCES FOR THE DEBUTANTES takes their place—and when Miss Ruth Lyman and Miss Rosamond Gardiner are the two honored ones, interest is keen. They have that same to poplar luster, infinite enjoyment, in the passing hour and the merrier of personalities. The Herbert Lyman party at the Republican Club on Friday is for them, and though it is not an exceedingly large party it indicates because of its host and its honored buds.

For guests Miss Betty Bird, in old blue velvet, a sufficed frock with fitted bodice and Mrs. Manning Emery, distinguished in a French manner that was peaceful blue satin with sweeping train.

N. J. WILL HOLD PARKED CARS FOR RANSOM

New York, Feb. 6.—Cars parked tonight in the theatrical zone will be seized and held for ransom by the Street Cleaning Department. This announcement was made by acting Police Commissioner Philip D. Hoyt and Street Cleaning Commissioner Alfred A. Taylor.

The seized cars will be held until 9 o'clock the following morning at stations, where owners can get them by paying $10 and receiving their summonses to appear in Traffic Court.

The new rule is based on an ordinance twenty-five years old, which empowers the Street Cleaning Department to seize vehicles obstructing the street and hold them for $10 poundage. Street cleaning men specially assigned by Commissioner Taylor will report to the police for each car.

Since the new zoning rules have been adopted, Hoyt and one hundred and eighty-three cars have been found parked in the restricted zone and the cars have either been seized or summoned to court. Hereafter, it will not be necessary to waste the time of policemen on duty in the theatrical district serving summonses.

U. S. Hunter Kills Record Eland, 19 Lions in Africa

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Africa, Feb. 6 (AP)—Arcturus F. Lionance of Oakland, Cal., has shot what is believed to be the largest Eland Patrimonium ever bagged. It was described as having a spread of 33 1/2 inches, beating the previous largest one by an inch. The Eland is a species of antelope. Some varieties of the animal attain a height of six feet and a weight of 1,000 pounds.

Lionance's hunting party includes his son, two brothers and his hunter named Naabund. They have been shooting over the Ewasit plain in German East Africa and have bagged 19 lions and 13 leopards.

Lionance, formerly was director of the J. C. Penney Stores, attempted to seize vehicle obstructing the street and hold them for $10 poundage. Street cleaning men specially assigned by Commissioner Taylor will report to the police for each car.

ROSENWALD FOR ROCKEFELLER IN OIL FIGHT

Chicago, Feb. 6 (AP)—Julius Rosenwald, capitalist, philanthropist and head of Sears-Roebuck & Co., has extended his support to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the effort to wrest the Standard Oil of Indiana board chairmanship from Col. Robert W. Stewart.

"I have no share like to owners of Standard Oil stock and they in give their proxies to Mr. Rockefeller," Mr. Rosenwald said. He added that himself is not a stockholder.

"I said in those letters that it was fitting for stockholders in any enterprise to see that the business is managed by officers whom they could trust."

STEWART DIRECTING PROXY FIGHT

New York, Feb. 6 (AP)—Col. Robert W. Stewart was in this city today directing the campaign on the Eastern front in his battle of proxies with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

A spectacular flurry in Indiana all stock on the curb yesterday had no direct connection with the Rockefeller fight to prevent the reelection of Stewart as chairman of the board, experts said. The stock went to a high of 102 on the New York Curb.

At the Rockefeller offices it was said the Rockefeller proxy committee was nearing the 45 per cent of the proxy, which they believe will be sufficient to control the election.

CONGRESS DEMANDS THOROUGH PROBE OF NARCOTIC EVIL

INFLUENTIAL LEADERS BACK LA GUARDIA RESOLUTION

By KENNETH CLARK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The gigantic traffic in drugs is a "national scandal," Rep. La Guardia (R.) of New York declared in introducing in the House a resolution calling for a joint Congressional investigation of the narcotic evil.

A similar resolution is to be offered in the Senate with the backing of administration leaders. Two Senators and three members of the House would conduct the inquiry during the spring and summer and report recommendations for more drastic legislation to Congress next December. The committee would investigate every phase of the narcotic traffic.

PROBE ORIGINATED

The resolution says: "The committee is authorized and directed to conduct an investigation and make a study of existing laws, rules, regulations, control and policing of the traffic in opium, narcotics and habit-forming drugs; to ascertain the amount of habit-forming drugs and narcotics required for medical and legitimate purposes; the system of distribution of habit-forming drugs; transportation, smuggling and unlawful sale of drugs; the source and method of unlawful traffic in opium, its derivatives and habit-forming drugs; and to report to the first session of the seventy-first Congress, and not later than December 31, 1929, its findings and recommendations for the amendment and revision of existing law necessary to prevent the unlawful sale, traffic and use of habit-forming drugs."

Influential leaders of the House today announced their support of the measure. "It is apparent that the use of drugs is increasing to an alarming degree all over the country," said La Guardia. "This is especially true in large cities. Police reports, court records and hospital statistics prove beyond a

Aged Mother Mourns for Girl Who Died in Leap

In a dingy cubicle of a room in a West End lodging house, a little old lady sat today—rocking—rocking—looking at last a victim of drugs.

She was a victim of her own fault. This white-haired lady of 75 years, but Tuesday, from a high window of her lodging house, a daughter leaped to her death while police troopers up the stairs pulled her back.

She was a daughter whom police and society call had but she had been good to her mother.

Totally deaf, deserted by other members of her family, according to her own assertion and with only a 44-cent week from the city now left to support her, Mrs. Anna Hattaway, mother of Margaret Rose Hattaway, sat and rocked sorrowfully as she told the simple way in which her daughter had been led to use narcotics.

Chickie, the mother called Margaret Rose, her only daughter, and even at 34 years of age the daughter, in her last letter, her mother, signed herself as "Chickie."

A "SPECIALTY DANCER"

"It was 20 years ago that we moved from Lynn to Boston," said the little white-haired old lady as she rocked back and forth.

Twenty years, and I can see Chickie now as she was then—a beautiful and lovely girl, crazy about dancing.

"We were happy then and I sent her to dancing school and bought her pretty dancing shoes—red, gold, silver. My poor Chickie."

Then when she was older she wanted to work and earn money and she got an engagement in a revue on Hanover st. where she did a specialty dance.

It was there that she got a bad habit, but it was not Chickie's fault. It was the fault of an older girl who should have known better.

"One day Chickie had a terrible headache and feared she could not go on with her specialty dance. This girl gave her a tablet and told her to take it and it would cure her headache."

"Chickie took the tablet and felt fine. She took them all week and then the girl told her she had been taking dope. Chickie was horrified but when she tried to

5 BOYS SEIZED IN ROXBURY ROBBERIES

A gang of youthful snatches, who have been making a name for themselves in the city, were seized today by Special Officers McCarthy and Fennell at the Dudley St. police station.

Five suspects, in all, were arrested. Two were taken to the Roxbury court at once. The other three were held for further questioning and were to be arraigned later.

The investigating officers said they had recovered more than $500 worth of stolen property in the homes of the boys who were nabbed.

The two taken to court, charged with larceny from the person and with larceny from dwellings, were Frederick Whalen, 16, and William Houdon, 17, both of Roxbury. Police allege that Whalen was the leader of the "mob."

The three held, as suspects are 15, 16 and 17 years old respectively. Two are Roxbury youths and one is from Boston. They admitted, it is alleged, that they had been engaged in criminal activities for some time, planning their whole time to planning and executing their jobs.

Cloche Hats to Feature Easter Once

New York, Feb. 6 (AP)—The smart spring hat may be any one of a half dozen varieties of straw and it may be any color—but it will be a cloche.

The popularity of the small, close fitting shape was attested in its predominance at the spring shoe show of the Retail Milliners Association of the A.S.C. last night.

A few broad-brimmed hats were exhibited, but they were clearly intended for wear with the more sumptuous costumes, and it is not expected to figure largely in the Easter collection.

New York, Feb. 6 (AP)—Nathaniel O. A. Cabs, 29, wealthy manufacturer, whose throat was slit in an automobile parked in "Lovers Lane" in Brooklyn, by a girl of 17, in a hospital this morning, while a dozen detectives hunted a young woman seen fleeing the scene.

No knife was found and the victim's money and jewelry were not taken. Detective reported finding the case filled with many mysterious features. On the floor of the car they found a woman's handkerchief, a fragment of a woman's dress, and two packages, each containing two women's sweaters.

After leaving Epstein he said, he had driven a short distance when an unknown man leaped on the running board and asked for a lift. As soon as he admitted him to the car, A. Cabs said, the man dragged him and A. Cabs, pulled out a sharp instrument of some kind and drove it across his throat.

MYSTERY OF VALERA ARREST

London, Feb. 6 (AP)—The arrest of Eamon De Valera, Irish republican leader, yesterday at Belfast, created only mild excitement here, but caused a great deal of curiosity regarding the outcome.

When several days ago De Valera's appearance at the forthcoming Belfast bazaar was advertised, the ban against his crossing the border was recalled, but it was thought the authorities not only would turn a blind eye toward him, but would allow him to be shown around without interference.

His southern sympathizers are reported to have been convinced he would not be molested, inasmuch as the political situation has completely changed since the exclusion order and De Valera has in the meantime taken the oath of allegiance to the British government. Whether any special reason other than the strict letter of the law motivated the arrest is not known here.

New York, Feb. 6 (AP)—A call on the use of tear gas by criminals is the aim of a city ordinance adopted today by the board of aldermen. The ordinance was requested by the police department and the city chemical warfare service, and prohibits the private manufacture or sale of tear gas or devices used for its discharge. Violation carries a penalty of $100 fine or 30 days in jail or both.

Hagen Can't Pay His Alimony on Golfing

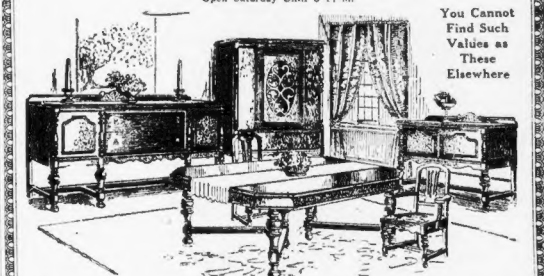

Los Angeles, Feb. 6 (AP)—Hagen is at right for pleasure, but not to avoid paying money. Walter Hagen, professional golfer, told Superior Court Judge Marshall McComb last night.

At the time he made a separate maintenance agreement with his wife Edna Hagen, under which she was to collect $1000 a month, he was making considerable money selling Florida real estate. But, he added, he had that job and now must depend on his golf income.

WALTHAM GIRL NEED $10,000 TO GET SUTOR FOR SURVEY OF TO WEDDING CHILDREN

When a girl is young and pretty and accomplished, this might seem a small sum. But for a girl of 19, her sutor ought to be sure of her until she gets her to the altar and bears her say I do—in the presence of witnesses.

Another fact that it seems to Miss Florence Doucette, 19, of Lakewood ave., Waltham, who just had a change of heart, and now one sutor, with whom she filed marriage intentions on January 11, is out of luck, and the first young man's successful rival, in asking for a wedding license which he and Miss Doucette expect to use Sunday.

The disappointed woman is Francis O'Leahy, 18, of Cedar st., Waltham. Miss Doucette's present fiance is Walter E. Murray, 19, of Worcester st., Watertown. He filed his intentions this week he admitted today.

Florence explained how it all came about.

"Francis," she said, "wasn't as wonderful as I thought him at first. When he was courting me, it seemed that I loved him. When he was engaged, however, everything was different.

"So I changed my mind."

"Walter and I have been dear friends for years. I know I will be happy with him."

Miss Doucette is a Waltham high school graduate and is a musician of ability.

Al Smith Ready to Back Walker Again

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 6 (AP)—Former Governor Al Smith under no circumstances would consent to be a candidate for mayor of New York city at this fall's election, but will support Mayor Walker if the latter wants a renomination it was stated today.

Walker conferred yesterday with Governor Roosevelt and Republican legislative leaders in Albany. In the result, columns of the press reported for probable acceptance.

Strong 'T' Bar Shows Power to Quit Drink

By LOUISE RICE
Noted Graphologist

"CAN you read of sufficient will power in my handwriting to enable me to overcome my desire to drink? What business ability does my writing indicate?"

"Howard, Lynn."

My dear man, just look at the long, strong bar that you use when you write the word "power" on the ends of these bars which add persistence to will.

Can you read of sufficient will power in my handwriting to enable me to overcome my desire to drink? What business ability does my writing indicate?

power. You not only have ample will power but you have a great deal of it. There is no excuse for you, Howard, and that's the fact! If you drink more than is good for you it is because you are unwilling to use the power that you have.

HAS STRONG WILL

I don't believe very much in this matter of not having the will power to resist temptation, except in the case of people who are weak, ineffective and wobbly writing shows that weakness of will, temperament and physical strength are all united.

The young man or woman who has started any bad habit very early in youth will get this kind of a writing, no matter how they try to have firm pressure and good writing. Your specimen tells me that you have a strong, healthy constitution, that you are possessed of a strong will, a firm personality, the ability to talk well and a good mind.

All you need to do is to convince

NOTE: Send sample of your handwriting to Miss Louise Rice, noted graphologist, for analysis. Write your name and complete address on unruled paper, in ink or pencil. To cover clerical costs enclose 10c in silver or stamps. Also enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The individual analysis will be returned to you within a period of one or two weeks. Letters will not be published if sender so requests. Miss Rice has a number of letters which she cannot answer because of wrong or inadequate addresses.

CHARTER MEMBERS OF THE OLDEST OLD MAIDS' CLUB

Something's wrong with Washington (D. C.) bachelors. In ten pretty maids, three of whom we see here, in a determination to perpetuate the "blessings of spinsterhood," and together to form an "Old Maid's Club." The eligibility of applicants is predicated upon two assumptions: "The they shall regard men purely as a means to an objective, and that they pledge eternal faith in the blessings of the single state." CRUISERS ROLL SHIP UP COOLIDGE

Washington, Feb. 6 (AP)—The bill authorizing 13 new cruisers and an airplane-carrier for America's navy was almost ready for consideration by President Coolidge today, the Senate having passed it by a vote of 86 to 12. In almost the same form as it was approved a year ago by the House, it was returned, however, to the House for consideration of a few Senate amendments. Early approval of these by the House was predicted. The bill then goes to the White House.

COOLIDGE DISREGARDED

Late the House, the Senate disregarded completely the request of President Coolidge that the chief executive be given a free hand in constructing the ships. Against his wish, language was retained in the bill stipulating that the 13 warships be started before July 1, 1931, and specifying the program whereby they would be laid down in three successive years, beginning immediately.

The only material change made in the bill by the Senate was the addition to an amendment by Senators Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Reed, Democrat, Missouri. It should the President "sign the bill, Congress is expected to begin steps to appropriate the funds for the 13 cruisers before next June 30.

No Need of Early Parley on Arms, Says London Times

London, Feb. 6 (AP)—Passage by the U. S. Senate of the naval building bill drew varying comment from London papers today. The Times expressed the opinion that there is no need to hurry further disarmament negotiations. "Clearly there is time for inquiry and still more clearly is there need for it," the Times says.

Interest is adversely affected by the Senate's decision. To the British mind no rivalry arises or can arise so long as the community large issues is for the most part spontaneous. It all respects desirable and, realistically considered, vital to both."

The anti-government chronicle sees in the decision of the Senate a reaction to what it decries as the competitive naval building policy of the present British government.

"The United States," it says, "could never have believed in the more frequent voices in their midst if our government had not adopted the worst-out principle of naval rivalry at Geneva, and revealed in the foreign policy leading to the method of alliances and competition between groups of powers."

"The United States," it says, "could never have believed in the more frequent voices in their midst if our government had not adopted the worst-out principle of naval rivalry at Geneva, and revealed in the foreign policy leading to the method of alliances and competition between groups of powers."

TWO TRIPS DAILY FOR NEW JERSEY AIR LINE

Colonial Air Transport Inc. operation of the annual line between Boston and New York, will shortly inaugurate a regular passenger service between Boston, Hartford and New Jersey, it was disclosed today.

The shuttles were said by Capt. Clarence M. Rugg, state aviation commissioner for Connecticut.

ONLY ONE STOP

The only stop between Boston and New Jersey will be Hartford. It is expected that the new Colonial Ford motorbuses will be used. These ships are powered with Pratt & Whitney V-type engines, each delivering 125 horsepower, each carrying 14 passengers and two pilots. They will have a high speed of 125 miles per hour and will cruise at 110 miles per hour.

The New Jersey terminals of the service will be at the new million-dollar airport at Newark, N. J. This will make the distance between cities about 180 miles, which will be flown in one hour and 40 minutes.

The passenger service will be in addition to Colonial's regular air mail flying, and for the start one trip each way per day is planned. The rates will be in the vicinity of $25 to $30 one way, and it is possible that a round trip ticket will be sold considerably cheaper than the price of two tickets.

Wales's Nobby But 'His Old Man' Is Class

London, Feb. 6 (AP)—For years the world has looked, rightly or wrongly, upon the Prince of Wales as the last word on what the well-dressed man should wear.

But now, the Tailor and Cutter, official organ of the tailoring industry in England, has decided to look away some of the glory from the prince and give it to his father, King George.

The magazine pays eulogistic tribute to the sartorial perfection of King George, and in the sequence, the youngbloods of Bond st. and Piccadilly are expected to turn henceforth to the King for hints and information as to the correct thing to wear.

"In the tailoring trade," the article says, "there has always been a feeling of gratitude to King George for the example he has set his subjects in dress.

"No man has shown better taste in the choice of his clothes, no man better judgment in their use for special purposes, in his diverse activities, whether ceremonial, sporting or the everyday affairs of life, there has never been a jarring note in his attire.

"His robes have always been a model of elegance in a neat and trim fashion, with only a hint of studied effect, always it has been the art, not the craft, that counts."

Then follows an exposition of the King's choice in clothes, the fol lowing of which are set forth as the King achieves extra width at the shoulders of his coats.

His trousers are never creased down the front, but are pressed at the sides.

He invariably wears a turn-down collar, neither opening so wide as that of the Prince of Wales, nor with such deep points as that of the Duke of York.

His gloves, whether tan, grey or brown, are always pointed with black.

His gray topcoat for wear at the races, and his gray hodge, are trimmed with bands of the same color.

He has a penchant for shoes with black leathers and tan uppers and turn-back cuffs after his own costs.

He always wears a double-breasted vest.

POLITICS HALTS TRIP TO WALES BY PRINCE

London, Feb. 6 (AP)—Chances that the Prince of Wales would go to south Wales to inspect some of the mining districts there were reported today as lessened.

The prince's trip, which was out of the fact that the outbreak in the House of Commons focused attention upon the political character of the unemployment problem, there is the further circumstance that the situation in south Wales is less distressing than in the Northumbria mining districts which the prince inspected last week.

The Daily Mail said the prince conferred with Stanley Baldwin and other ministers and therefore on his visit to the northern mining villages.

"The political aspects of the subject act as a damper on the prince's trip, because any trace of political activity is traditionally taboo to the royal family. The visitor to the House, in which a Laborite member said a government official had insulted the Welsh miners and the Prince of Wales, became a red flag so far as the prospects of the heir to the throne was concerned.

Besides all this, rival unions are in dispute in the South Wales area and of certain it is there have been disturbances because unemployed miners have been refused work which the regular workers disapproved.

It has been stated that several thousand men have found work since Christmas and therefore the situation was less poignant than it was some time ago, and the prince would be the point of a trip by the prince, was lessening.

Played Double Auto Game, Fined

Found guilty of falsifying procuring an automobile license, Luigi Confolio of Beldwin ave., Everett, in South Boston court today was fined $25 by Judge John J. Connelley.

Confolio's counsel claimed he was a victim of a scam in which men hang around Commonwealth Pier and take advantage of licensees. Motor Vehicle Inspector E. J. Fanning said he had investigated such stories and they were unsubstantiated in any case.

Confolio's counsel charged Fanning with having someone take the reading and writing tests for him while he took the road test.

Robert Anderson, Tech student, arrived at the East Boston airport today after a flight from Portland Me., which was punctuated by an unannounced stop at the Academy near the Newburyport Turnpike. Officers of Skowhegan, Me., East Boston, expected him here before dark.

When the aviator failed to show up, it was feared that he had crashed. He telephoned Emerson of Skowhegan remembered Anderson had friends at Danvers. He telephoned. "Surely Bob's here. He just finished dinner," was the answer.

Capt. George Fried, heroic rescuer, says:

"Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet."

"AN S.O.S. from the 'Florida'! We change our course. We on the 'America' strain to arrive in time to rescue the men on their sinking ship, 350 miles away. Through the icy, freezing storm and high seas we plunge on—all speed ahead! Then the night-time rescue, the search lights, the whirling waves, the manœvering to get near the 'Florida.' Finally, the 'Florida's' crew coming off one at a time, pulling themselves through the water on the line our men had thrown them.

"These 32 men, dazed, many half clothed, needed reviving after their long exposure. Hot coffee, food and Lucky Strikes—these gave new life to many of them and we on board the 'America,' crew and passengers alike, found after the strain and struggle that there was nothing quite so comforting and relaxing as the inviting, toasted flavor of Lucky Strikes.

"Playing this game with 'Davy' is ever fascinating, ever thrilling. And we who follow the sea must be ever ready for adventure. Ours is an active life, demanding nerve control and physical fitness. In my health program I have found that Luckies are most important not only because they provide a respite for frazzled nerves and an exhausted body but because whenever I crave anything which is over-fattening, I say to myself, 'Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' In the toasted flavor of Luckies, I get complete satisfaction. And I find that toasting, by removing the irritants, protects my throat."

For the third time this season, the Bruins went down to defeat before the New York Americans at the Boston Garden, and incidentally this was the second setback the Bruins have suffered in three days.

It is a pity that the Bruins have been so unlucky. They have been a strong team and have won many games. But they have been unlucky in the last few days. They have lost three games in a row and are now in a bad position.

Miss Fairfax on White Collars

By Beatrice Fairfax
SOME one once said: "The new collar is long for three things—a fur coat, a beau and Saturday night."
If the new collar is not as stylish as they were, but Saturday night is still the collar of the week and hearse continue to "hold their own" as well as fur coats.

There are fashions in bows, however, as well as in collars. During the past few weeks, the bow has been in vogue. But in these days of peace it is and nearly all the "white-collar" men are in the "gentle" work not only in the hands of the men, but also in the hands of the women.
